THE GREENBELT

The Greenbelt consists of 2,800 acres of parks and natural areas in the heart of Staten Island, NY. The area features over 35 miles of marked hiking trails. Much of the Greenbelt is protected parkland, yet several parcels are privately held.

The Greenbelt Conservancy is a not-for-profit organization that works in partnership with the New York City Department of Parks and Recreation to help maintain the Greenbelt and promote prudent use of this urban oasis. Attend a Greenbelt class, festival or guided hike. Join our membership circle, and become involved in helping Staten Island’s ‘great outdoors’ remain alive and well!
